

Early settlers were attracted by promise of Ritta Shore

Editor's note: The following are the recollections of Glades pioneer C.A. "Mutt" Thomas, as written by Ruth S. Irvin. His story is being presented in serial form by permission of the Mutt Thomas family.

RITTA SHORE

The first white man to live on Lake Okeechobee south shore was William H. Cason. He moved to LaBelle from Appalachicola in 1886 after his orange grove had frozen. He and his family came by train to Punta Gorda. They took a boat to Ft. Myers and later came down the Caloosahatchee to LaBelle. The Cason family lived in a large, white, two-story house in LaBelle and grew most of their own food. Mrs. Cason was a good cook and everyone was welcome at their house to eat, visit or spend the night.

Mrs. Gertrude Mabry Van Horn in Belle Glade is William Cason's grand daughter. Her mother Lucette was married to Jim Mabry, the engineer who with Jim O'Neal was hired to do the state's survey for the canals. O'Neal married Lucette's sister Gertrude.

William "Bill" Cason not only was a pioneer in LaBelle but he explored, fished and hunted on the lake. He poled or rowed his boat around the south shore of the lake in 1897. He found a dead river one-half mile east of Dieston's old canal on what became known as Cason's River or the Little Ritta River. He built a house a short distance down the river in 1904, on a grove of cypress trees, well hidden back in the custard apple swamp. He planted a garden and set out banana trees and sugarcane to provide food during the hunting season. He was probably the first white man to plant sugarcane near the lake. He was the lone settler on the south shore for four years.

Madison Hall, Eugene Fortson, and A.V. Callahan came and camped west of the old canal in 1909. William Cason and these men hunted, fished and went back and forth from the south shore to their homes. A great hurricane hit the lake in 1910. There were only four men living on the south shore at that time.

It was Cason's son George, who took Governor Broward and his cabinet on an inspection tour around the lake. Governor Broward, always interested in the small land owner, advised William Cason to go to Tallahassee and buy his land which he did. He paid $3.25 an acre for 40 acres. The state sold 108,000 acres of land adjoining the south shore to Richard J. Bolles, an Ohio great land developer in 1908. William Cason had persuaded "Hub" Sewell to locate a banana farm one mile east of the Thirteenth Mile Canal. Sewell built a two story house fronting on the lake. In addition to bananas he planted avocados, Royal Palms and other plants. His son began to devote his time to selling land. He was instrumental in getting Bolles to locate his hotel on the lake where the Thirteenth Mile Canal was located.

Bolles organized the Okeechobee Fruit Land Company to sell tracts of land on the lake shore. He advertised his farm sites widely throughout the country and sold them in parcels from 10 to 800 acres, averaging out about $16.00 to the acre.

Bolles built his hotel adjacent to the Miami Canal in this wilderness on the south shore in order to bring prospective customers in and show

BELLE GLADE-PAHOKEE, FL.

Mel Tillis, others eye lake project

By JEFF BROWN

PAHOKEE — A group of investors, including entertainer Mel Tillis, told the Pahokee City Council that it is prepared to develop Pahokee's marina facility into a resort, but the council wants several "contingency" factors included in any agreement it enters with the developing corporation.

The plans were discussed at a council workshop session Wednesday night, February 2 and again at the council's regular meeting Tuesday, February 8.

According to the prospectus, the Pahokee

Marina Development Corporation plans to develop the harbor facility into a resort complex that would "make this one of South Florida's most desirable recreational areas."

The complex the Pahokee Marina Development Corporation plans would include a 50 unit motel and a restaurant.

Other proposed facilities to be constructed in Phase I of the development would be a dockmaster's building with a ship's store; approximately 100 camping sites; additional parking; a second boat ramp; improvements to the observation tower that sits on the dike and improvements to the boat dock area and pier.

A recreational park is also planned for Phase I. The park would provide facilities for a variety of activities including volleyball, basketball, horseshoes, and jogging.

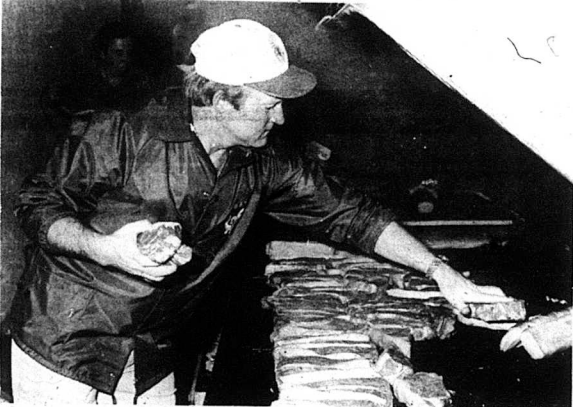

The group's plans for Phases II and III of the project include additional motel accommodations, a nine-hole golf course, an outdoor amphitheater, an equestrian facility, tennis courts and a health club.

Tuesday night, the council and the attorney representing the corporation, Andy Helgesen, discussed a letter from City Attorney Michael Stauder which details problems the city may face in leasing the harbor to a private firm for development.

"The purpose of this letter is not to destroy the plans to develop the marina, but is merely a legal opinion on the agreement itself in as much as the city's rights in regards to the land are not certain," the letter stated. "I think that most of these obstacles can be overcome and I feel that the city is capable of entering into an agreement with the (corporation) upon resolution of the various matters set forth herein."

Permission for sale of beer sought

BELLE GLADE — The Black Gold Jubilee Committee will ask the Belle Glade City Commission for permission to sell beer at the festival in April. The committee members, using secret ballots, voted 7-5 Friday, February 4, to seek the commission's approval to sell beer for the first time in the festival's six year history.

Committee chairman Rupert "Bubba" Mock, Jr., appointed a committee to examine methods of selling the beverage if the commission approves its sale.

Money from the sale of beer would stay in the committee to fund future events, according to Mock.

Last year, the committee voted to sanction the sale of beer, but reversed itself a week later due to pressure from several local religious leaders.

This year, the vote taken on a secret ballot and no discussion was held before or after the ballots were cast.

"After last year, any more discussion at this point would not serve us any real purpose," said Mock.

After the vote was taken, he said the committee should view beer as another fund-raising product. "We're not pushing beer as a major beverage," said Mock.

4-laning of SR 80 supported by legislative delegation, fund raising is the problem

BELLE GLADE — The western Palm Beach County state legislative delegation, meeting in Belle Glade Monday morning, told a small group of local citizens that it supported efforts to have state road 80 four-laned, but it was divided on how the funds would be raised.

Representative Ray Libert pointed to April 1, the date the "federal nickel is placed on the gasoline tax," as an appropriate time for Florida to levy its own gasoline tax.

He said if the state chose to levy an additional tax afterwards, it would look foolish.

He said he was "inclined to favor" an additional gasoline tax that could be used to fund improvements to SR 80 and US 27.

Senator Don C. Childers said improving SR 80 was his "number one priority as far as transportation." He said studies which indicated the road could be completely improved by 1989 were unacceptable to him.

"That's really not satisfactory to me," he said. "I think that's too long."

He also said that, in his conversation with legislators, he didn't find much support for an additional gasoline tax at the state level.

"Being politicians, politicians, most of us anyway, don't like to raise taxes."

David Goodlett, the intergovernmental affairs representative from Palm Beach County, told the delegation that the county commission supported efforts by the state to increase revenues to be used in improving SR 80.

He said that SR 80 is not only important to Glades residents, but it is of increasing importance to residents of the Wellington and Loxahatchee area, too.

Childers also discussed the single-member district concept. This was the first meeting of the delegation in the Glades under the new single-member district concept.

Childers said he was originally opposed to the idea of single member districts, but pointed out advantages and disadvantages.

He said under the new system, he only has to run in a small, single-member district as opposed to a larger, multi-member district. He said that leads to better name recognition. He also said it permits representatives and senators to travel to the district more often to hear their constituents.

One of the disadvantages of the single member districts is that it reduces the number of representatives constituents can influence, said Childers.

Development package to be reviewed

BELLE GLADE — The Belle Glade City Commission may soon be making its first attempts to diversify the local economy when it sets up a special committee to examine powers and incentives the local government has that may be used to attract industry.

City Attorney John E. Baker was asked to draw up a resolution that would create a "blue ribbon" type of board that will examine all avenues available to the city in attracting business and industry.

The city commissioners suggested that the Economic Development Council should include a banker, the president of the Chamber of Commerce, three people from the city staff and a local business leader.

Several methods of attracting industry are open to the city. Mayor Thomas L. Altman told the commission, including Industrial Revenue Bonds.

7 arrested on drug charges

BELLE GLADE — A month long undercover operation conducted jointly by the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office and Belle Glade Police Department resulted in the arrest Friday, February 4, of seven individuals on assorted drug charges.

Walker was arrested at his residence, according to Browning, who added the others were apprehended in the vicinity of the 500 block of SW Avenue B Place in Belle Glade.

More arrests are expected, according to Browning.

Stauder's letter stated that he had briefly examined the proposed agreement and had several modifications to recommend.

His letter stated that the city must determine what rights it has to lease the property in respect to the current lease, since the first paragraph of the agreement of the proposed lease with the Pahokee Marina Development Corporation requires that the city grant all of its rights to the facility to the corporation.

"Since I am not sure under what authority the city has any rights to the (marina), I am not certain as to what power the city might have to transfer their rights, if any."

"Additional investigation is required in order to ascertain exactly what rights the city holds to the property, how those rights were obtained and what restriction are associated with those rights," the letter continued.

Stauder told the council that he recommended the city contact any agencies involved in operating, maintaining or governing the facility to determine if problems would exist if the city turned control of the harbor over to the corporation.

He also recommended the city conduct a title search to determine if the city actually has control of the marina.

Hegelsen said the corporation would be willing to assume the expense of a title search and to assist the city in determining if any problems exist with the city turning the facility over to the corporation.

"We need to find out if you have the authority," he said, adding that if the corporation feels there would be an agreement when the problems are worked out, it would work towards solving those problems with the city.

He also said the corporation had made an offer of settlement to William Joiner, the current leaseholder at the facility, and had received a counteroffer from Joiner that it considered unacceptable.

Joiner said he was asking for a position as operator of the proposed marina shop and compensation based on a percentage of the profit the shop made.

He said that is similar to his arrangement with the city. His current lease expires in three years. Stauder also presented the council with a letter detailing areas the city could look for breaches of the lease on Joiner's part. Those breaches, if the city found any, could give the city reason to terminate the lease.

"I'm not saying any of these things are being violated," said Stauder of the letter. "I don't know. I just think it's some things that must be checked out."

Joiner said if the corporation doesn't settle with him, he would stay at the harbor for the duration of his lease, which expires at the end of January 1986.

He said he wouldn't have signed the lease two years ago if it didn't include a three year renewal option, and he didn't want to give up that option now. He exercised that option at the beginning of February.

"So you just wanna go on there for another three years?" asked Councilman George Tillis. "You're pretty comfortable sitting there, and you want to go on no matter what it means to the city? That doesn't mean anything to you?"

"Would it to you if it was your business?" asked Joiner.

Stauder said other problems exist to be worked out before development at the marina can be started.

He suggested the city's rent be computed on gross revenues instead of net, as stipulated in the proposed agreement.

"I feel that the door is being left wide open for many disputes," stated the letter on the development proposal. "It is my opinion that the city should utilize a gross percentage figure as opposed to a net percentage figure, in as much as it will leave no question in anyone's mind."

The council and Hegelsen agreed that gross figures may be substituted instead of net figures. In addition to the percentage of revenues, the corporation would be obligated to pay a set rate of $300 per month.

Councilman William E. McKinstry asked Hegelsen where the $300 figure came from.

"We reached into the air," said Hegelsen. "I don't think you reached high enough," replied McKinstry.

Hegelsen said that amount was negotiable, but the corporation would seek to keep the base rent low enough to make facilitate investment in the project.

Hegelsen said that the corporation had no objections to including provisions in the agreement that gave the city an escape if problems couldn't be worked out, but he asked that the city council approve some sort of agreement with the corporation soon, or the investors may pull their support.

"Simply put, if you don't have the power to do it (lease the facility), then we don't have anything anyway," said Hegelsen addressing the council's concerns that an agreement may box it in to something it can't do. "We can't walk before we crawl and crawling is getting hold of the marina. We'd like to get your help to do that."

Mayor Duncan Padgett and McKinstry both expressed the view that they would like to have all the problems solved before the city agreed to anything with the corporation.

Padgett said he felt Joiner was doing a good job and he would like to see the dispute with Joiner's lease settled before any action was taken on the corporation's proposal.

"I don't think we should just dump him (Joiner) out," said Padgett.

"We're rushing into it," said McKinstry of the proposal and its potential problems. "I'd rather not do that. I'd rather get it all clear first."

Other councilmen said they would prefer to have Stauder and Hegelsen draw up an agreement including the contingencies, for approval by the council before the problems are worked out since a delay could result in a loss of financial backers.

"We're probably gonna have to step back in a corner further than we want to step," said Tillis of the venture. "It's my full intention to do what I can to proceed with improvements up there or anywhere."

"I'm not in favor of putting it off till everything is resolved," said Councilwoman Ada Bush.

The Pahokee Marina Development Corporation is backed by six investors.

Celebrating 60 years

One of the highlights of the year in Hendry County is the Hendry County Fair and Livestock Show.

This year the fair will be held Feb. 12-19, and includes everything from the steer and swine sale to home exhibit booths and the Miss Hendry County Contest.

There is lots more too, all done with the objective of providing clean, wholesome entertainment for the entire family, while showing off local talents and accomplishments.

Of special interest is the dedication of the fair this year to the City of Clewiston.

Diversifying the economy

In a near future, the Belle Glade City Commission will probably create an Economic Development Council.

The council will be charged with examining opportunities open to the city in attracting various industries to the area.

Commissioners hope the council will develop a package the city can use in attempts to diversify the local economy.

Diversification is needed. Agriculture is the only real occupational opportunity in the Glades. It has provided employment to thousands of Glades residents and has benefited the Glades tremendously. But, while agriculture is strong today, and may remain so for some time, there are factors which could weaken the industry in this area, and thus adversely affect the people here.

Perhaps the most ominous factor is the slow subsidence of the muck. In another 20 years, the rich muck land which means gold to the farms and the area itself could be reduced to levels that won't sustain agriculture.

If agriculture is no longer a viable

now celebrating "60 Golden Years."

We owe a special thank you to fair board members who work hard all year to put together an ever improving and more attractive package.

These are community-minded folks in the best sense of the word, donating their time so that we all might benefit.

The fair starts Saturday, Feb. 12, with the parade at 10:30 a.m., followed by Fun Day at the fairgrounds and the Chamber of Commerce barbecue.

It sounds like lots of fun. See you there!

enterprise in the Glades, and the Glades fails to diversify, the economic impact will be devastating.

Mechanization could also reduce the number of employees needed to work the farms.

Technological developments may make it cheaper and more efficient in the future for growers to harvest their crops by machine rather than by hand.

A diversified economy could offer displaced workers other occupational opportunities.

A diversified economy could also soften the impact of unemployment during the off-season, when the farms aren't hiring workers.

We hope Belle Glade continues its attempts to diversify the local economy, and we urge other cities to do the same. There is no certainty that economic disaster will hit the Glades agricultural industry. But there is always the possibility, and civic leaders should be working now to soften the blow if it should ever come.

I would like to say that what you are doing with this drug prevention program is a good idea, and that I wish you success in this. But why the right to do this by scaring children with half truths about certain drugs. I refer to Mr. Toma, even though I am sure that he is a fine man, but with the right idea, though after his talk at the school, one of my nieces and some of her friends talk about how stupid that Mr. Toma and other people in your country are trying to scare them away from taking certain drugs such as what you call marijuana. I asked her about this and she told me that at this talk Mr. Toma made reference to the chemical and nature of this drug. To tell you the truth I was shocked to hear that half truths were being used as a scare tactic. I say this even more after reading about Mr. Toma in your paper, for this is not what your own government studies show about this particular drug. I refer to your last N.I.D.A. report issued this past year and also has been given to our government in Germany. The point of this matter is, you will not turn your children away from drug abuse by these propaganda scare tactic when your own children seem to know that this is just a scare tactic. We have found in my own country long ago that half truths never got anything done. In our drug abuse programs we have found that by presenting information on particular drugs from marijuana to alcohol that is from proven studies and are wholly correct with no scare tactics that we have achieved a greater success rate among children turning them away from drug abuse. It seems Mr. Toma was and a large sum of money to come here to say what you the adult's want to hear and not what needs to be said to educate the children. Very Truly Yours, H. Smetter Bonn, Germany

AND WHAT NOT

Noland in the kitchen

For the past couple of weeks, I've been enjoying the hilarious account of a Frostproof bachelor, learning to cope with the care and feeding of a bachelor — himself.

The bachelor happens to be the editor of the Frostproof News, Charles E. Noland, who, sometime in the not too distant past, found his wedding warranty had run out and he was suddenly faced with learning how to do a laundry and cook for himself.

Recalling his early lessons in laundering, Mr. N refers to it as his "black shirt" period — a time in which he was learning not to throw black socks in with the white wash.

He wots not whether other divorcees head for the book, "Joys of Sex" because in his case, he says, he had to turn to the "Joys of Cooking." Meanwhile, he would call female acquaintances on the phone, not to suggest a trip to the moon on gossamer wings or suchlike, but just to ask them how in heck you cook rice.

Women would stand entranced while he shopped for groceries, he reports. He would take a can of milk off the shelf and read it. Some cans he put in his cart and others he put back on the shelf. The watching shoppers wondered what was wrong with the cans he rejected. There was nothing wrong. He just didn't want two cans with the same recipes on the labels.

To get the hang of cooking, he sent away for basic recipes. How basic? "When the instructions tell you to get your big sister to open the can for you and to ask mommy to turn on the stove, that's basic," he explained.

The milk, the juice, and the chilled water must always be lined up in precise order, so that he doesn't chugalong from the milk carton when he was expecting orange juice or water, and vice versa.

We wonder if he has yet stuffed and roasted a chicken without removing the paper-wrapped giblets or made an apple pie without sugar. A male neophyte chef in our family once created a chocolate cake with navy blue icing, which he never lived down or duplicated.

Actually, Noland's on-site training in cooking isn't much different from a lot of other people's. The difference is that he's willing to go public with his confessions, omissions, and variations. Our compliments to the chef.

Boilerplate

By Jim Jones

An apology...

Many of you have noticed that the print quality of our newspaper has been less than wonderful in recent weeks.

A number of you have expressed your concern and for this I thank you.

We too recognize that the readability has been poor, that there have been light streaks and dark streaks in all the wrong places.

While it may not be apparent, we have been trying during this same period to get the situation corrected.

After the papers were printed this past week, we got involved even more strenuously, accomplishing what you could say was a major overhaul.

I'm writing this before the paper has been printed so I'm not sure if you will see a significant difference right away, but I hope so.

We have gone to a new type of plate, replaced the "socks" on the rollers, placed new "blankets" on our cylinders, reworked our 40 horsepower dc motor, scraped away old ink and generally cleaned up our five-unit News King press.

We have gotten people from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, to Joplin, Missouri, involved, as well as Belle Glade Electric Motor Works, Swindle Machine Shop, Best Electric, and McDuffie Electric.

I almost ruined my own image last week, getting covered with ink from head to toe while trying to get one of the blankets off the press. My little girl was afraid to come to me. And I'm concerned that members of the staff here may actually think that I work sometime.

Our publisher, Stan Martin, has managed to ruin several pairs of clothes with ink, and they are now, as he says, just "work clothes."

Basically, I would just like to say, "We apologize" for our print quality and thank you for your patience. We sincerely believe that the problem will soon be corrected and that we will gratefully be able to turn to other things.

On a brighter note, best wishes for a speedy recovery to Jean Anderson, executive director of the Clewiston Chamber of Commerce.

We all had a scare when Jean suddenly entered the hospital this past week. But my sources tell me Jean is going to be fine.

Jean, we all love you and look forward to seeing you back at work soon. There's nobody like you. And I know of only one person who can out talk you. Get well soon.

While Jean is getting out from under the weather, Pat Perry and Sharon Flynn are filling in capably down at the Chamber.

The University of Florida has done it again: let home-grown football talent escape out of state. This time it was Clewiston's 270 pound all state tackle who went to Pittsburgh. All Pitt does is win national championships and Florida has never even won the S.E.C.

From what I hear, the Gators showed little, if any, interest in Dixon.

For a long time now, Pitt has been tapping into the Pahokee talent pool. It appears they have now discovered Clewiston as well.

Telephone directories are being distributed

United Telephone Company of Florida is now delivering the 1983-84 edition of the Clewiston-Okeechobee Phone Book to customers of Clewiston, LaBelle, Okeechobee, and Moore Haven, according to Bob Allen, customer relations manager.

"America's best seller" contains over 17,800 listings, an increase of 526 over the '82-'83 edition, and will be circulated to the 38,500 customers who reside in the areas. It totals 200 pages, including 132 yellow business office pages.

Agricultural courses offered

BELLE GLADE - Farm employment can be improved as a vocation by utilizing modern personnel management and diversified skill training.

The University of Florida Cooperative Extension Service has designed a project, "Intensive Skills Training for Agricultural Needs" (ISTAN Project) to fulfill the farm owners need for a more skilled and productive workforce and to provide the individual worker with skill training which results in more full-time and year round work, increased wages, and a more stabilized economic situation.

According to Paula E. Gigliotti, Extension Agent 1 Personnel Management, the program also promotes the development and use of permanent and year round farm careers and provides the skill training to qualify individual farm workers for those not yet designed careers.

Ms. Gigliotti said farm owners determine their employment needs and the skills they will require in order to continue and increase their production. Agricultural Short Courses are provided to current employees or to prospective employees in order to insure the availability of a skilled workforce for each farming operation.

Presently there are several Agricultural Short Courses being offered at Palm Beach Junior College and West Technical Education Center.

Millions in water revenue being lost?

PAHOKEE -- According to an unofficial audit by a West Palm Beach accounting firm, the city of Pahokee may be losing about $200 million in water revenues.

The report, made by Nowlen, Stewart, Tedamanson and Holt, of the city created 302,850,000 gallons of water at its plant in the 1981-1982 fiscal year. The city sold 218,262,000 gallons through its meters, a loss of about $4 million gallons. The city charged $2.26 per gallon. It costs about $1.63 per gallon to treat the water. The city council members said most of the loss is due to leaking pipes. Councilman George Tillis said the city is attempting to replace the old water system one section at a time as it can afford the repairs and replacements. Councilwoman Ada Bush suggested the city may also have lost some water through the backwashing of filters in the system.

"Part of it probably is in there," she said. "A small part of it. A very small part of it," said Council Chairman Jon Mock.

Man arrested after wreck

SOUTH BAY -- A wreck in South Bay Tuesday morning, February 8, resulted in a Clewiston man's arrest for driving without a license and other charges relating to the accident, according to Officer Roy Hamston of the South Bay Police Department.

According to Hamston, Gustavo Tinoco, 19, of route one in Clewiston, is facing charges of failing to yield the right of way, driving without a license and causing an accident. Tinoco supposedly failed to yield the right of way when making a left turn from the southbound lane of US 27 into state road 80 at about 6 a.m. Tuesday. His automobile was struck by a 1981 Ford pickup driven by Norman Windland, 24, of Fort Lauderdale. Windland was making a right turn from the north bound lane of US 27 into 80 when the accident occurred.

A passenger in the Tinoco automobile, Enrique Leon, 21, of route one in Clewiston, was transported to Glades General Hospital, according to Hamston.

Both vehicles were towed from the scene and apparently suffered $2,000 in damages each.

Calvin Clay

Clay takes new post

BELLE GLADE -- Calvin Clay, an employee of the Florida State Employment Service for over 30 years, has assumed a new position with the agency.

He will serve as a Real Manpower Representative. Under his new position, his duties will include acting as a liaison with the local agricultural growers. He will determine what their needs are and attempt to help the agency fill those manpower needs.

Clay was formerly an interviewer with the agency.

2 SB women charged with burglary

SOUTH BAY -- Two South Bay women were arrested by the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office late last week in connection with the ransacking of several farm laborers' housing units.

According to Detective Steve Haller, Marvin R. Givens, 19, of 210 NW 11th Avenue in South Bay, and Sylvia A. Moore, 22, of 135 NW 11th Avenue number two in South Bay, are each facing five counts of burglary and one count of grand theft. They were placed in Palm Beach County Jail under $50,000 bond apiece.

According to Haller, witnesses identified the two as the individuals who allegedly entered three labor camp units owned by United States Sugar Friday, February 4, and stole $1,372 in cash and jewelry.

Sometime between 9:30 a.m. and noon, the two supposedly entered units 313 and 316 at Miami Locks Camp and stole $259 in cash and four watches valued at a total of $148.

They are also accused of entering units 607 and 608 at South Shore Labor Camp and stealing $40 in cash, three watches valued at a total of $90, two rings valued at a total of $65 and one knife valued at $10.

At a third burglary that morning, they are accused of entering unit 320 at Ritta Camp and stealing four radios valued at a total of $490, one watch valued at a total of $30 and $300 in cash.

Haller said both confessed. Givens was arrested in South Bay at about 5:30 that evening and Moore was apprehended in Belle Glade at about 6:05, he added.

Woman charged with grand theft

BELLE GLADE -- The Belle Glade Police Department has charged a local woman with grand theft in connection with a December 31 check cashing scam. According to the report, Inez D. Arnett, of 916 SW Avenue H, is facing one count of grand theft after she allegedly cashed a Glades General Hospital payroll check at two local businesses. She apparently cashed the check, made out to her for $369.56, at Sweet N Sassy December 31. When the clerk noticed the check on the counter and turned away, Arnett allegedly took the check and cashed it again at Gilbert's Jewelers. She used $64.95 of that amount to pay for a ring she had on lay-away at the jewelry store.

God is unique

"Hey Mac!" was a familiar cry during World War II. It was a general name for a seaman in the Navy. Many times when a petty officer wanted a sailor he could call out "Hey Mac!" and many answered, for it was a substitute name.

If you know a person's name you have power over them, for you can call them or ask them to do something. A name is usually held to be very important. It is your very own.

Moses, the desert shepherd, was commanded by a voice out of the burning bush to go to Pharaoh, King of Egypt, and secure release of the People of Israel (the children of Jacob) so that they could go to the land of Canaan.

Moses was very practical and perhaps a little overwhelmed for he said to God, "If I come to the people of Israel and say to them, 'The Lord of your fathers has sent me to you' and they will ask me, 'What is your name?', what shall I say to them?'"

God said to Moses, "I AM WHO I AM." And he said, "Say this to the people of Israel, 'I AM sent me to you.'"

Names are important. For some time we have been treated to all kinds of names. Bands, singers, and combo come up with all kinds of names. Names such as "The Beatles," The Bee Gees, are still familiar to us.

The answer of God to Moses was strange but God went on to say, "Say this to the people of Israel, 'The Lord, the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, has sent me to you; this is my name forever, and thus I and you to be remembered throughout all generations.'"

The name "I AM" does not convey a great deal of meaning, if any, at all to us. It comes from the Hebrew verb YHWH to be. It is the third person singular and it is translated "He will be" or even better "He causes to be" or in the first person singular "I will cause to happen." We can call it THE GREAT HAPPENER OR THE ONE WHO CAUSES THINGS TO HAPPEN.

What God is saying to Moses is "I AM the eternal unique Lord. I AM because I have always been. To the Hebrews a name indicated the character of the one so named.

"Taking It From The Top"

by Dr. David T. Evans

God is not only eternal but He is unique. God's nature is entirely different from any other existing, or ever did exist, or ever will exist.

God is eternal, unique, and makes things happen. He is Lord and as Lord is sovereign. He is over and above nature or the supernatural.

The Hebrews believed this and the writer of Deuteronomy wrote down these great words, "Hear, O Israel. The Lord our God is one Lord, and you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength."

Being one, God demands the heart, the entire being of the worshiper. It is God's oneness that demands faithfulness. Loyalty to God can not be divided.

God cannot abide a divided loyalty because He is the only one worth worshipping and He knows that less than complete allegiance can be detrimental and even destructive.

During the battle of the plagues God shows his sovereignty and power, and the extent of His wrath. In the Ten Commandments God says, "For I the Lord your God am an impassioned God, visiting guilt of the fathers upon the children, upon the third and fourth generation of those who reject Me."

"But (says God) showing kindness to the thousandth generation of those who love me and keep my commandments."

God is eternal, unique, and the great one who makes things happen and the Lord and sovereign of all, therefore we ought to be realistic and logical and give him our full allegiance.

At the same time our great God shows many times more kindness than wrath. In Jesus, who reveals God, we even more fully see the extent of His love and concern for the individual. God is the shepherd and is just as interested in one as in the other ninety-nine.

A PINCH OF SALT

Rev. Robert W. Carlson

Consumerism is sorority topic

SHE used her "expensive toys" to illustrate features to consider in purchasing a typewriter, stereo and the various components, and camera. She showed slides made with her camera and pointed out things that can go wrong when you are taking pictures and/or slides.

Mrs. Buchanan emphasized the importance of reading consumer reports and trade journals before making a final decision. She stated that you will be happier with your selection if you do your homework before making the purchase.

The next social will be at the home of Linda Soto in Wellington.

The hostess served refreshments to: Mary Frances Burke, Pam Campbell, Anna Mae Chapman, Naomi Conley, Joy Gates, Vivian Miller, Echo Painter, Linda Soto, Linde Steele, and Mary Evelyn Wilson.

Florida Everglades rebounds again

THE tenacity of the Florida Everglades system has been demonstrated once again as this major wetlands area has rebounded from the high water it experienced last summer.

On a recent tour of Everglades Water Conservation Area, District Chief Biologists Walt Dineen observed a general resurgence of life in the Everglades as the waters continue to recede.

"Everything is normal. The Everglades have bounced back again," Dineen said. "Wading birds are flocking into the area by the thousands as the northern marsh dries; Everglade Kites have returned with the survive on a limited upland area," Dineen said. "But, overall, the high water was good for the area. Periodically, we need these kind of rains to give the inland marsh area an extended wet period, just as we need dry conditions periodically to help certain plant species reestablish themselves. It's all part of a natural cycle."

Much of the brush on the tree islands, which were overgrown when deer fled to these higher areas to escape high water resulting from more than 22 inches of rain last May and June, has grown back, Dineen said.

More than 200 Everglades Kites, a bird on the endangered species list which fled the Water Conservation Area during the 1981-82 drought, have been sighted in the area recently, he said. They have returned because their major food source, the apple snail, is abundant in the area due to the recent high water conditions.

That servant who had been entrusted with $1000 was afraid to invest the money, so he dug a hole in the ground and hid it.

The rich master said to the first two, "Well done, good and faithful slaves; you were faithful with a few things, I will put you in charge of many things." But to the one who hid the money, the master said, "You wicked, lazy slave, you ought to have put my money in the bank...cast out the worthless slave into the outer darkness."

In 1983 God has entrusted us with special abilities, talents, opportunities, and resources. We are not so responsible for the outcome as we are for our effort. If our motive is to please God and our efforts are empowered by the Spirit of God, then the outcome will be the success that can only come from God.

He'll be lazy; invest what God has entrusted to you.

NEW 100-190 HP TRACTORS
NEW JOHN DEERES
SHATTER OFFICIAL
TEST RECORDS

NEW PTO FUEL EFFICIENCY RECORD
NEW DRAWBAR PULL RECORD
QUIETEST TRACTOR EVER TESTED

Stop and ask about the new 50 Series 100- to 190-hp tractors. We've got all the test results and complete information on new features.

NEW 100-190 HP TRACTORS
JOHN DEERE SETS NEW
PTO FUEL EFFICIENCY
RECORD IN OFFICIAL TESTS

The John Deere 4850 is the most fuel-efficient big tractor you can buy. It now holds the record for PTO-measured fuel efficiency. In official tests at rated engine speed, the new 4850 bested every current production tractor of 100 horsepower or more. (Actually it's the most fuel efficient tractor over 65 hp currently available.) The record? Take your choice: 17.47 horsepower hours per gallon or .399 pounds of fuel per horsepower hour. But the 4850 wasn't alone in turning in an improved PTO fuel efficiency. All five of our 100- to 190-hp tractors are more fuel efficient than their predecessors. Across the line, they average 10 percent better on overall PTO fuel efficiency. Stop in for the full story.

NEW 100-190 HP TRACTORS
JOHN DEERE OUTPULLS THEM ALL IN OFFICIAL TESTS

Two of our new 50 Series Tractors have broken the drawbar pull record for 2-wheel-drive tractors in official tests. Yes, that's right. TWO of them. The new 4650 recorded a maximum pull of 18,794 lb. And the new 4850 recorded a maximum pull of 20,810 lb. Both of these tractors recorded more drawbar pull than any other 2-wheel-drive tractor ever tested. All five of our new tractors generate a considerable increase in pulling power when compared to their predecessors. And torque reserve? It's increased as well. Drawbar fuel efficiency? It's improved on all five. Stop by the store for complete details on these record-setting tractors. We want to tell you about our PTO fuel efficiency record and sensational sound levels, too. If you're looking for better fuel efficiency, more pulling power or a better working environment, look at a new John Deere.

NEW 100-190 HP TRACTORS
JOHN DEERE
SMOTHERS THE SOUND
RECORD IN OFFICIAL TESTS

The quietest tractor ever tested is on sale here. We're talking about the John Deere 4050, which recorded a maximum sound level of 73.5 dB(A) while operating under full drawbar load. At 50 percent load with reduced engine speed this same tractor recorded a sound level of 70.0 dB(A). Now that's quiet! But the 4050 wasn't alone in smothering noise. All five of these 50 Series tractors are very quiet. Here's how they performed at maximum drawbar load: 4250, 74.5 dB(A); 4650, 74.0 dB(A); 4850, 76.5 dB(A); 4850, 75.5 dB(A). Stop by and hear the full story on these record-setting tractors.
